GOLDMINE

- After transferring as a graduate student from Oklahoma State to Nebraska, Daniels joined younger brother, Damion, on the Cornhusker's defensive line. The elder Daniels came to Nebraska specifically to play with his younger brother and help him with his training. At home in Dallas on summer break, the brothers woke every day at 7 a.m. to run. The competitive spirit drove them both to out-work the other. "He's hard on me with conditioning," Damion said. "I don't joke around and play in the weight room. But conditioning, my brother wants me to go that extra rep, carry my attitude from the weight room onto the field." Parents Tony and Rhonda Daniels appreciated the opportunity to watch both sons on the same field. "That's all they talked, the opportunity to be on the field together and playing on the same team," said Tony Daniels.

DANIELS' GOLDEN NUGGETS

- Father, Tony, was an All-American defensive lineman at Texas Tech and played for the Green Bay Packers.
- Growing up, Daniels loved academics and gaining knowledge in different subjects. "I would consider myself a nerd growing up," he says. After earning a bachelor's degree in marketing from Oklahoma State, he pursued a master's degree in applied science at Nebraska.

GOLDMINE (CONTINUED)

- Known for his vocal abilities, Daniels participated in show choir at Bishop Dunne High School and was named Male Vocalist of the Year in the Dallas/Fort Worth area as a high school freshman. While at Nebraska, he even sang the national anthem for a crowd at the Husker Road Race in 2019. "I've actually been singing for some time," Daniels said. "I've always sung in gospel choir in church. My mother made us growing up." Known for singing around the house, Daniels' mom, Rhonda, was a primary reason for Daniels to pursue this gift. "I've got a very musical family," said Daniels. "If you ever met my momma, she sings everything. She really is the main reason why I found out I could sing."
