BEARS BATTLE NINERS ON SUNDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

The NFC North-leading Chicago Bears (11-4) travel to the Bay Area in Week 17 to take on the San Francisco 49ers (11-4) on NBC's Sunday Night Football. NBC's crew of Mike Tirico (play-by-play), Cris Collinsworth (analyst) and Melissa Stark (sideline) will have the call, as Jeff Joniak (play-by-play), Tom Thayer (analyst) and Jason McKie (sideline) will broadcast on the Bears Radio Network.

The Chicago Bears enter Week 17 with an NFL-best 31 takeaways, including 21 INTs, for a league-leading +21 turnover differential. Chicago's +21 turnover differential registers as the third-best in a single season by the Bears since at least 1960, as Chicago became the first NFL team to accumulate at least 31 takeaways and 21 INTs through the first 15 games of a single season since 2021 (Dal.). Chicago has registered a takeaway in eight-straight games, the longest active streak in the NFL. Chicago has also turned the club's NFL-best 31 takeaways into 97 points, tied for the second-most points off of takeaways in the league this season. The Bears have scored 83 points in the 4th quarter / OT over the last eight weeks, the most by any team in the NFL. The Bears' defense has not allowed a score on the opening series in seven-straight games and has held opposing offenses to just 10 points scored on their opening drive this season, No. 1 in the NFL. The Bears own the No. 5 total offense (371.5) and No. 2 rushing offense (151.2) in the NFL. Since Chicago's Week 5 bye, the Bears lead the league in rushing (170.2) and average the third-most total net yards per game in the NFL (387.3).

QB Caleb Williams has led Chicago to an NFL-best six fourth-quarter comeback wins this season, the most by any Bears QB in a single season in franchise history. Williams' league-leading six fourth-quarter comebacks this season tie HOF QB Peyton Manning for the most fourth-quarter comebacks in a single season by a QB under the age of 25 in NFL history. When trailing on third down, Williams has seven total TDs and a 136.7 passer rating, No. 1 in the NFL. The second-year signal-caller's 10 total TDs (pass + rush) on third down this season tie for the second-most by any QB in the league. Pro Bowl DB Kevin Byard III leads the NFL with six INTs, the most by any Bears defender since 2018, as his 35 career INTs are the most by any player since the 10-year veteran entered the league in 2016. The NFC's Defensive Player of the Month for November, DB Nahshon Wright, has collected eight total takeaways (five INTs, three FRs), the most in the NFL. DL Montez Sweat leads Chicago with 9.5 sacks, as TE Colston Loveland's four receiving TDs tie for the second-most among all rookie TEs. RB D'Andre Swift (993) and rookie RB Kyle Monangai (731) lead the rushing attack, as Chicago is the only team with two 700+-yard rushers this year, with the help of OL Joe Thuney and OL Drew Dalman, each of which were named to the 2026 Pro Bowl Games.

Chicago overcame a 10-point fourth-quarter deficit to defeat the Packers, 22-16, in OT in Week 15, scoring 16 points in the final two minutes of regulation / OT to claim the club's first six-game home win streak in a single season since 2005 (W6-16). The Bears have now played, and won, on a Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the first time in franchise history. Williams connected with WR DJ Moore on a 46-yard TD in OT to secure the walk-off win. Chicago's defense limited the Packers to 0-for-5 on Green Bay's five red-zone trips, the first team in the NFL this season to hold an opponent without a red-zone TD on at least five red-zone drives and the first Bears defense to do so in a game since 2017.

The Bears will host the Detroit Lions in Week 18 to culminate the 2025 regular-season slate.

NUMBERS TO KNOW

- +21 The Bears enter Week 17 with a +21 turnover differential, ranking No. 1 in the NFL. Chicago's defense has registered 31 takeaways, with 21 coming via INT, each of which lead the league.
- 6 Chicago has won six games this season after trailing in the final two minutes of the fourth quarter, the most by any team in a season since at least the 1970 merger, according to ESPN Research.

HONORING OUR LEGACY

VIRGINIA HALAS McCASKEY

In honor and tribute of the passing of the organization's matriarch, Virginia Halas McCaskey, the Bears are wearing a stitched football-shaped patch on their uniforms for the 2025 season.

The patch — an orange football with navy lettering and a white outline around the middle "M" for McCaskey — will be stitched on the upper left side of each jersey for each game this season, strategically placed above each player's heart.

The 2025 patch is a near-identical design to the patch the Bears wore during the 1983 season after founder, owner and Hall of Fame coach and player, George Halas, passed away.

The Bears are also honoring Mrs. McCaskey by only wearing the club's iconic primary uniforms during the 2025 season.

STEVE McMICHAEL

The Bears are also honoring Pro Football Hall of Fame defensive lineman Steve "Mongo" McMichael, who passed away earlier this year.

The Bears are paying tribute to the Super Bowl XX champion by doing a football-shaped decal featuring McMichael's No. 76 on the back of each helmet. The logo will also be painted on the grass for every home game.

A five-time All-Pro, McMichael, who appeared in 203 games (postseason included) with the Bears, totaled 95.0 career sacks, third-most by a defensive tackle in NFL history.

"It's a cruel irony that the Bears' Ironman succumbed to this dreaded disease," said Chicago Bears Chairman George H. McCaskey in a statement following the passing of McMichael. "Yet Steve showed us throughout his struggle that his real strength was internal, and he demonstrated on a daily basis his class, his dignity and his humanity. He is at peace now."

WEEK 1 WINNER IN DEBUT

In the season opener, Williams became the first Bears rookie quarterback to win the season opener since at least 1950 (per Elias). Williams joined teammate Tyson Bagent as the lone two Bears to win their first career starts as rookies over the last 20 years.

Since at least 1950, only five Bears rookie quarterbacks have won their first career start — Williams (2024), Bagent (2023), Craig Krenzel (2004), Rex Grossman (2003) and Jim McMahon (1982). Williams became the first Bears QB to register a fourth-quarter comeback win in their first career game since at least 1950, while becoming the fifth rookie passer to lead a fourth-quarter comeback and victory in their first career game and first career start.

HISTORIC DAY ON THE LONDON PITCH

In last season's Week 6 win at London's Tottenham Hotspur Stadium, Williams threw for a career-high four touchdowns on 23-of-29 passing (79.3 pct.) for 226 yards, registering a 124.4 passer rating. Williams became the first No. 1 overall pick in the Common Draft Era to win four of their first six career starts and the first Bears rookie to have a passing touchdown in four-straight games.

Williams also became the fourth rookie passer to register at least four passing touchdowns and 50 rushing yards in league history. Williams' four passing scores are the most by any rookie quarterback in an NFL International Series Game, as well as the most by any NFL passer in a game held at Tottenham Hotspur Stadium (since 2019). With a passer rating above 100.0, he became the first Bears rookie to do so in three-straight games since at least the 1970 Merger.

Williams became just the fourth player in NFL history to throw for four passing touchdowns, register a 75 percent completion rate and rush for at least 50 yards in a single game in NFL history. Of the previous three players to do so, Rodgers and Jackson were named NFL Most Valuable Player that same season, as Robert Griffin III was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year.
